SUN BEAMS

By WALTER M. BARRETT

The urgent need for additional members in the Truckee Outing Club cannot be stressed too much at this time. The local promotional organization has been vitally assured on financial assistance in putting across a huge winter sports program....a program which will mean new life and industry in Truckee during the winter months. This program, however, depends entirely upon the attitude of Truckee businessmen and other residents. A membership in the Truckee Outing Club costs only $3. That seems like a paltry sum as compared with the possibilities which might result from the expenditure. It may mean the elimination of future solicitations for funds to carry on winter sports on a minor scale....it may mean the development of one of the biggest and best permanent developments Truckee has ever had. There is, of course a chance that this project may not develop, but it's worth taking a chance and everyone who would not only take out a membership, but urge friends to do so as well.

Now that the ball has started to roll on the street cleaning project, let's keep it going. Efforts are being made to find a way to have the task done in an efficient, economic way and we hope that way is discovered soon.

More than a week ago, 115 men were thrown out of work when the Boca Dam job was shut down temporarily. There are scores of stories being circulated as to why this action was taken. Some charge union activities caused the company to lay off the men, others say that shortage of materials was responsible. The fact remains that many of the families who arrived here several weeks ago to work on the project have gone to other locations rather than wait for the re-opening of the job. This means a loss to the community. We still can see no good resulting from the action, but maybe we are too pessimistic.

Now that the American Legion has definitely decided upon a site for the location of their proposed new veterans' memorial building, it begins to look like the long anticipated and hoped for edifice will soon start taking form. It has been a long wait and has meant lots or hard work, but the results are beginning to show. Members of the building committee, headed by James McIver, Jr., are entitled to a big hand for their efforts.

FORESTERS HERE TO MAKE SURVEY OF LANDS FOR SALE

Several officials of the United States Forest Service are making their headquarters in Truckee this week while making a tour of inspection in connection with the acquisition of certain tracts of land in the area.

They include R. Deering, assistant forester of the California region; M. Barnum, assistant regional forester; DeWitt Nelson, supervisor of the Tahoe National Forest; Assistant Foresters R. Price, R. Edwards, Fred Grover, Ernie Baxter, assistant supervisor and W. P. Lee, staff engineer. Two Washington officials are also here on the inspection.

WOOD CHOPPER PAYS FINE FOR BLASTING IN LOCAL FORESTS

Daniel Iscola, 63, was fined $50 this week when he appeared before Justice of the Peace C. E. Smith on a charge of dynamiting in the Tahoe National Forest without a permit.

Assistant Forest Ranger Garth Flint arrested Isola when a fire was discovered in the location where he had been blasting and cutting wood. It was revealed by the foresters that the fire had been set by some one other than Isola, who had not been at the camp for some time.

A jug of water had been emptied into the can of powder and all of Isola's tools were burned.

FIRE AT DUMP IS CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Fire which started in the dumping ground north of Truckee Wednesday afternoon, caused no damage, but had the foresters and others busy until midnight when it was extinguished. The cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

BUILDING MAY BE STARTED ON NEW HALL SOON

Litigation Completed After Investigation Of Local Site

ELECTION IS HELD

Frank Holt Elected Commander Of Truckee Post of Legion

With all litigation in connection with the title cleared, Truckee Post No. 439, American Legion, meeting here Tuesday evening, decided definitely upon the old McGlashan property, overlooking the west end of the town as the site for the proposed new $40,000 Veterans' Memorial building, and instructed the building committee to proceed with the detail in securing architects' sketches and any other detail in connection with the tentative plans.

It was indicated that preliminary work may be started in the near future, just how soon resting with members of the board of supervisors, who will be advised of the action of the local post this week.

The building committee is composed of James McIver Jr., chairman, Andy Anderson, Charles Winslow, Jack Wolert and Harry Edwards.

Several other locations wer offered but it was decided that because of its picturesque location and price that the McGlashan site, which will include the Stone Tower and museum content, offers the most attractive location. The property has a 1000-foot frontage and is about 600 feet deep, McIver explained.

The price of the property was set at $1500. With seven water rights the cost to the post was fixed at $2200.

Frank Holt was elected commander of the local post at the meeting, and will succeed Commander Harry Edwards. Other officers chosen at the busy session are: Glenn Keenan, first vice commander; Andy Anderson, second vice commander; Walter M. Barrett, adjutant; Frank Kinne, finance officer; James McIver, chaplain; John Scappenilla, sergeant-at-arms; Andy Roquette, Henry Loehr and Charles Pierce, members of the executive committee.

Truckee Team Wins Easily In Sparks Game

Kielhofer Stars on Mound As Local Boys In Victory

Behind the steady chucking of Carl Kielhofer, who held the visitors to five hits and struck out nine batters, the Truckee baseball team Sunday defeated the Duby Reid Post, American Legion, team from Sparks by a score of 16 to 5.

Ten bad errors by the Sparks boys had much to do with the victory for the local team.

The Truckee boys worked hard throughout the contest, while it was apparent that after they found themselves slipping the Sparks aggregation became careless.

Landrith and Bowers starred at the bat. Each got three two-base hits and all three hits were developed into runs. Guidi got two two-base hits and a single in his five times up. The hardest hit ball was by Giovannoni who slugged a triple in the seventh.

The score:

Sparks	5	5	10
Truckee	16	13	5

Birch, Jackson, Dutcher and Thomas; Kielhofer and Landrith.

New Utility Act May Have Effect On Local District

Manager Explains Workings Of Garrison Measure In Statement

On July 15, the so-called Garrison bill, passed overwhelmingly by the last legislature, and signed by Gov. Frank F. Merriam, became a law of the state.

Commenting upon the passage of this bill and its enactment into a law, C. Edmunds, manager of the Truckee Public Utility District said:

"The enactment of this bill has very materially strengthened the act under which this district has been operating. The act, known as the 'Revenue Bond Act of 1937' permits cities, towns, districts and other political subdivisions to issue bonds or certificates of indebtedness for the financing of publicly owned utilities, which are not a lien or mortgage upon the district and citizens as a whole, but upon the earnings of the utility to be acquired and upon such earnings alone.

"The act provides that only a majority vote shall be required to adopt a revenue bond proposition and under no circumstances can taxes be placed upon the real or personal property of the citizens of the district to repay such bonds or interest.

"The way is now open," Edmunds declared, "for the district to broaden its scope of operations. Without obligating the property owners, the district may proceed to acquire its own electric generating plant or it may acquire the water systems of the town. This latter proposition was defeated two years ago by a scant six votes of the necessary two-thirds vote under the general obligation bond act.

"A careful study will be made of both these propositions and when completed, the matter will be laid before the directors for their consideration."

SITUATION STILL UNCHANGED AT BOCA DAM SITE

Organizers Await Next Move By Company Officials In "Shut-down"

TROUBLE IS FEARED

Guards Are Maintained But No Picket Lines Are Established

The situation at the Boca Dam, where 115 men were discharged last Wednesday, remained unchanged today as Committee of Industrial Organization leaders awaited the next move of the officials of the Condon Construction Company, contractors on the job.

No picket lines have been established, Samuel Wolfe, CIO organizer announced, and none will be until non-union workers are employed. Day and night guards are maintained, he said for the protection of the company property.

"We are not afraid of our own men causing any damage," Wolfe said, "but it would be easy for others to do damage and blame the CIO."

The workers, or so at least those who remain in the locality met this week and formed a "declaration of independence."

In part it reads:

"We Americans have always taken our love of liberty seriously....we counted the costs of the contest and nothing is so dreadful as voluntary slavery....On July 19, 1937, a declaration of independence was adopted by 90 construction workers at the Boca damsite meeting of the Boca Tunnel and Construction Workers Union Local No. 420....In support of this declaration, we mutually pledge to each other our steadfast purpose as union men, our honor and our very lives."

Wolfe, who with H. F.Patton,has been attempting to secure a meeting with company officials, he said, but to date none has been held and officials of the company have indicated that they do not desire a meeting as they have nothing to discuss with the men.

Fears that a "show down" may be in the offing loom. The unemployed CIO members are still awaiting some definite word or some action by the contractor and at the same time it is rumored that a compromise is being made between the company and the American Federation of Labor officials. This may also result in trouble, observers believed.

Sports Program Plan Submitted To Bay Concern

Directors Approve Outline Of Proposal Made Here By Secretary

Detailed proposals for the new winter sports program were submitted this week to interested parties in San Francisco, who have expressed a willingness to cooperate in putting over the $100,000 snow sports program.

The report was prepared by C. Edmunds, secretary of the Truckee Outing Club and approved by the members of the board of directors of the organization at a meeting held here this week.

The plans call for completion of the ice palace, installation of modern ski jumps, pull-ups, new toboggan slides, building of ski trails and the purchase of other necessary new equipment.

The necessity for new members in the Outing Club was stressed at the meeting last week. It is the desire of the organization to have at least 500 members by September 1.

Reward Offered For Arrest Of Culprits Who Looted Building

VALUE WAS OVER $300

Tracks Left By Truck Form Only Clue To Night Theft Near Town

Theft of a fifteen horse power electric motor, used to convey the toboggans to the top of the slide at the Truckee Winter Sports Park was reported by C. Edmunds, secretary of the Truckee Outing Club Wednesday.

A reward of $100 for the arrest and conviction of the culprit or culprits has been offered by the club, Edmunds said.

The motor, weighing more than 400 pounds was taken from the winter sports pavillion during Tuesday night, Edmunds said. The thieves entered the building through a window which had been broken out and then by releasing the bars over the back door, loaded the motor onto a truck or car parked nearby.

Tracks of the vehicle form the only clue to the thieves.

Other thefts, including a quantity of copper wire from the Sierra Pacific Power Company, have been reported during the past few days.

GUARDING THE GAS TAX

For the privilege of traveling the length nd breadth of the State on smooth ribbons of paved highway, the California motorist pays a tax on every gallon of gasoline he buys. To this the car owner offers no reasonable objection, since the roads are maintained for his use; but when he learns that unwarranted diversion of his money may force him to pay for the same thing twice, he is spurred to action.

That action has crystallized in a constitutional amendment which will be placed on the ballot at the November, 1938, elections, designed to prevent raids on the gas tax funds by unrelated special interests. A similiar measure presented to the voters last year contained so many concealed "jokers" that it was turned down, but the new proposal is simple and direct and carries the support of automobile associations. It's sole aim is to present use of the gasoline taxes for general state expenses.

Gas tax diversion can have one result. It means increased taxes on gasoline and ultimately, a telling blow at the American formula which has brought automobile travel within the reach of even the lowest income brackets.

A recent report from a Standard Oil executive shows how the combination of maximum efficiency and large-scale production, permitting small margins of profit, have cut the price of gasoline in half during the past decade. But during that same period, the taxes have nearly doubled, so that today the oil company's profit per gallon....less than a cent.... is barely one-sixth the total taxes on it.

Despite this dangerously overbalanced structure, groups within the State have in the past, and will again in the future try to get their hands on gas tax funds. The amendment will not only choke off such threats, but will assure California motorists that they'll get what they pay for.

ABOUT FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

Keystone in the arch of American democracy has long been freedom of the press, and none has taken greater pride in this independence than the newspaper men themselves.

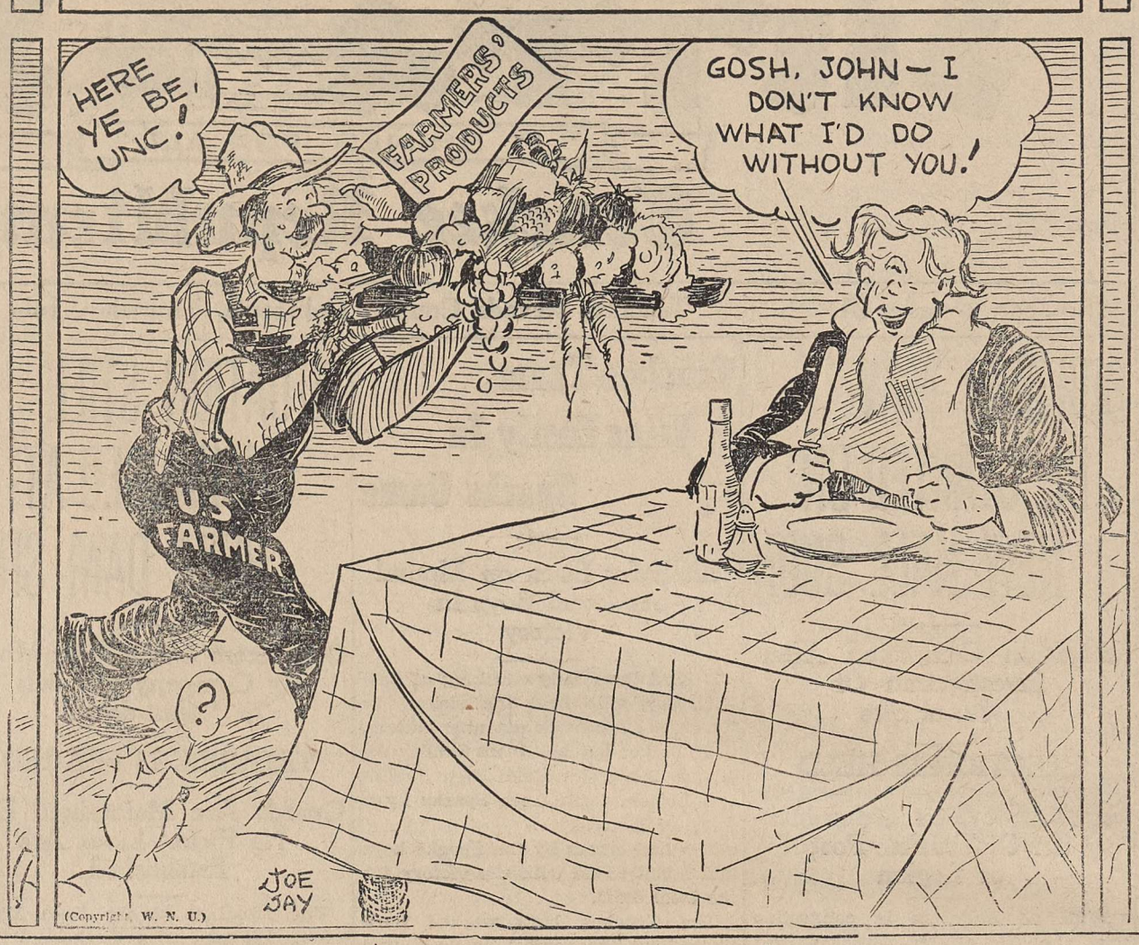
Hence the surprise expressed everywhere last week when a body of them—the Northern California Newspaper Guild—sanctioned a proposal to put their unemployed brethern to work on a government-supported newspaper.

One would think the guild should know better than anyone else, the danger inherent in such a plan, not only to the spirit of an independent press, but to their own interests.

Publishers already facing steadily increasing costs may find it difficult to compete with newspapers backed by the Federal treasury, may have to retrench, meaning less jobs for the guild members.

So far as press independence goes, it is pretty obvious that if the government supports a newspaper, that paper will reflect government opinion.

Our Best Friend



Politically Speaking

By GEORGE E. HELMER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, July 22.—(UP)—Gov. Frank F. Merriam wielded the veto axe more frequently this year than any governor had in 12 years.

His record of 416 vetoes—direct and via the pocket route—ranked third in similar actions in the past 32 years, being exceeded only in 1925 when Gov. Friend W. Richardson killed 519 measures, and in 1913 when Gov. Hiram Johnson lopped 433 bills off the list.

Despite the fact the 1937 legislature passed more bills than ever before—a total of 1349 went down to the governor—the veto action prevented a record being set in the number of new laws. Merriam signed a total of 933, 78 more than he did two years ago. The record of 1220 established in 1931 remained standing, however.

The governor gave no explaination for his pocket veto of 360 bills which he allowed to go unsigned when the bill signing period expired.

"There were many bills that should have been signed," he remarked, "but I had to trim somewhere."

Outstanding among those killed by the pocket veto route were the Welsh tideland oil bill; a measure to legalize dog racing; a bill to permit a deduction of 10 per cent of earned income from the state income tax; Senator Karl (Chief) Keough's bill to permit Indians to purchase liquor; a measure to provide a $35 "pension" to needy persons 18 or older who were permanently disabled; provision for increasing state salaries in the lower brackets.

When asked, facetiously, why he vetoed the dog bill, Merriam just laughed and referred to an editorial heading about "keeping the dogs honest". He did not consider it necessary to explain, again, his attitude toward gambling of all sorts unless voted by the people.

He took it for granted that everone would understand why he did not sign the Welsh oil bill, which figured in the recent legislative bribery investigation. He signed the O'Donnell bill on the same subject, thereby invalidating the Olson bill which was approved and signed during the session after a long fight during which Senator Culbert L. Olson conducted almost a lone battle against heavy odds. Olson, incidentally, said the O'Donnell bill gave the Standard Oil company the inside track to the state owned oil beneath the Huntington Beach tidelands.

The need for leaving state revenues undisturbed and to trim the corners on expenditures caused him to veto the income tax deduction proposal, a bill which would have given blanket salary increases to state employes receiving less than $200 a month, and a measure to provide a pension for permanently disabled persons.

Senator Keough's long fight to win drinks for his Indian friends over in Inyo and Mono counties failed again. Two years ago, he got his bill through the senate but saw it stopped in the assembly. This year both houses approved it but the governor refused to sign the measure.

The governor's plan to consolidate unemployment relief and the department of social welfare which handles old age pensions and aid to the blind and orphans was temporarily stymied when Attorney General U. S. Webb said it was unconstitutional.

A constitutional amendment set up the relief administration as a separate body and the legislature had no power to tear it down, Webb ruled.

Merriam hoped to get around the technicality, however, by appointing one board to administer both functions of government. He believed he could name a commission to serve both as the relief administration and

HUGE SUM PROVIDED BY STATE IN LOANS FOR VETERANS' FARMS, HOMES

SACRAMENTO, July 22.—(UP)—California has invested $77,775,000 in farms and homes for former service veterans.

Records of the state veterans' welfare board showed voters have authorized $80,000,000 worth of bonds to finance home purchase aid since the state lending program was begun shortly after the world war.

Recent legislative acts broadened the veterans' program. Major change was the elimination of the 60-day military service requirements for eligibility. Thousands of veterans are expected to take advantage of loans from which they have been barred prior to the revision.

NEW WARNINGS ARE ISSUED BY FOREST SERVICE IN DISTRICT

Dont forget your shovel, axe, fire permit and the fact that smoking is not permitted in the Tahoe National Forest when you feel the urge to camp in the great outdoors.

An effective picture, the original having been drawn by James Montgomery Flagg the famous illustrator has been distributed to Truckee business places by the local forest service showing the result of neglecting to include the necessary implements in the vacation baggage.

The captions, "Your Forests—Your fault—Your loss" add to the warning given in the drawing. Failure to obey the regulations issued by the forest service will lead to arrest.

NEW LIQUOR LAWS GIVE MORE POWER TO LOCAL AUTHORITIES IN LICENSES

SACRAMENTO, July 22.—(UP)—California's new liquor control act, effective when it was approved by Gov. Frank F. Merriam, includes numerous amendments looking toward more complete home rule, particularly in the matter of licensing.

While administration of the act still rests with the state board of equalization, local authorities now have much more to say in determining who shall be permitted liquor licenses.

Under terms of the act, the board of equalization, in addition to requiring the posting of notices at establishments where the sale of liquor is intended, must notify sheriffs, chiefs of police, district attorneys, boards of supervisors, or city councils in incorporated territories, and no license may be issued for 15 days thereafter.

Protests by boards of supervisors or city councils require public hearings within the county or city affected.

In addition, applicants for "on sale" licenses "shall publish the notice prescribed by the board in a newspaper within five days and file an affidavit of publication with the board" to make sure that all interested persons will have knowledge of the proposed establishment.

Sheriff Carl Tobiassen, Deputy Sheriff William Woods and District Attorney Vernon Stoll all of Nevada City, were visitors in Truckee last Saturday.

the social welfare commission. Each department would operate independently but would have, so to speak, an interlocking directorate.

He does not intend to make definite plans for that sort of setup, though, until he has investigated all legal angles. The present relief commission and director, Harold E. Pomeroy, will continue to function as in the past until the governor decides whether to make a change. The members have offered to resign anytime he wants to name a new board.

Considerable discussion arose over a bill lengthening to nine months the period in which a person must reside in California before he has to pay the state income tax. Opponents said it would give wealthy persons a chance to spend the summer in Nevada and the other nine months in California to evade the tax. Supporters said it would attract many wealthy visitors who will stay longer if they do not have to fear the tax, and that business will improve sufficiently to overcome any loss the state may sustain.

While in their monthly session last Thursday, the board of supervisors fixed the mileage fees of all county officials at ten cents per mile. Formerly the fee was for fifteen cents per mile on paved roads and twenty cents per mile on dirt roads.
